But all their traits have been averaged together here, so that the man common to all appears. This picture represents the spirit of the Presidents. Roosevelt dominates it.

DOMINATING TYPES

Coolidge and the composite man are like in being restrained. Both suppers a great deal more of their oughts than they put into action. It is interesting to notice how nearly the average of the Presidents looks like Roosevelt. Note also how much more mental Coolidge is than the average. Here are the pictures of the three men whose physical traits have so far dominated the presidency. It

His nose is imper and sharper, and it sticks out hather from his face. The master man spends much of his time in releating over the problems that come to him, while Coolidge goes about looking for things to claim his attention. Has Keen Mind. The composite man is much more liberal than Coolidge. He is not so sure that he has arrived at the true solution of the question that confronts him; he carries more of a natural doubt in his mind, and so is never so certain. Coolidge is endowed by nature with one of the keenest minds that has ever been in the White House. When he decides, he stands on his convictions.		Jackson Van Buren W. H. Points of President Coolidge's character as revealed by a study of his face.

AVERAGE AGE OF PRESIDENTS IS NEAR 49 YEARS

The average age of our Presiden at the time they assumed office is 49 years 10 months. Coolidge's age when he took the oath of office was 51 years and 30 days. The following list shows the age of each President at the time

Route of the Funeral Train

Here is the route that President Harding's funeral train will take from San Francisco to Washington. A statement was issued last night saying that it is as yet impossible to lay out a complete schedule for the funeral train across the continent, but the figures on the map give the approximate time that the train is due to pass various points.

Where Presidents Were Born

DISPOSITIONS AND TRAITS OF PRESIDENTS

The apove chart shows the dispositions and ment al traits of all the Presidents, averaged together. Notice how overwhelmingly blue eyed they are and how a majority have light hair. This is because they are of Anglo-Saxon stock, which is blonde. In statute they are medium to very slightly tall, on an average, and the restrained type of mind far outbalances all the others. Comparatively few Presidents have been of the ardent, fire-eating type. weat of his brow and the toil of his ands; yet he can understand the nique distinctions of the highbrow."

PRESIDENTS IN MAIN HAVE BEEN COLLEGE MEN

Every dot on the map shows the birthplace of a President. The state of Virginia has furnished the most, eight. Obio comes next with seven. New York, North Carolina, and Massachusetts have furnished three each, New Jersey two, and Pennsylvania, Kentucky, New Hampshire, and Vermont have given one each. The first Presidents came largely from the south. In recent years the balance has been with the north. As the center of population moved west the center of the President's nativity moved with it toward Ohio. The cross on the map shows the center of population in 1920. The bars show the presidential center of the United States. Almost all the Presidents were here in rural communities. Roosevelt and Taft are the exceptions,

AUSSIE TENNIS DAVIS CUP PLAY

PAUL CASTNER STARS DRILL FOR OF NOTRE DAME SIGNED BY SOX

Davis cup honors who will play the Japanese team at the South Side Tennis club next week showed their form in practice yesterday. Playing on grass courts, the Aussies showed much better tennis than they showed last year, and impressed the spectators at the western championship as being stronger than the team which has represented them in Davis cup competition in the last three years.

The speed of I. D. McInnis was impressive, but the big improvement seems to be in the work of Capt. James O. Anderson, whose backhand work shows much better. Capt. Anderson figures his backhand work 20 per cent better and his exhibition in practice indicates that he is not overestimating.

The Aussies reached Chicago yesterday morning and engaged in two practice sessions, morning and afternoon. Anderson playing Bohleringer and McInnis meeting Hawkes.

"Ah! but she "breathed Leonie "she, at least, had something to lose aking questions."

The Falcon's gase dropped very slightly. It had held her eyes; now it was all upon her lips. She felt them tremble; she felt her underlip, always so and ripe, part for the space of a breath.

Then she knew that he had kicked aside his chair and was beside her; at his arms were pinning hers to her side; that his mouth was crushed down on hers so that she would have cried out in pain but could not. For a meet longer than eternity she was held so, a prisoner under that savage is afraid, yet exultant. Then, so abruptly that she had to clutch at a chair-lok, he released her.

"And now you, too, have something to lose," he said.

Tree from the magnetic touch of him, she whipped up her anger, blaxing him in a stream of quivering, spitting, tigerish French, which he seemed follow with case.

"You are giving yourself trouble for nothing." he told her in the same quage as soon as she paused for hreath. "You who are as unscrupulous the devil and as cruel as—as I myself, why do you weary me with insinfilles?"

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

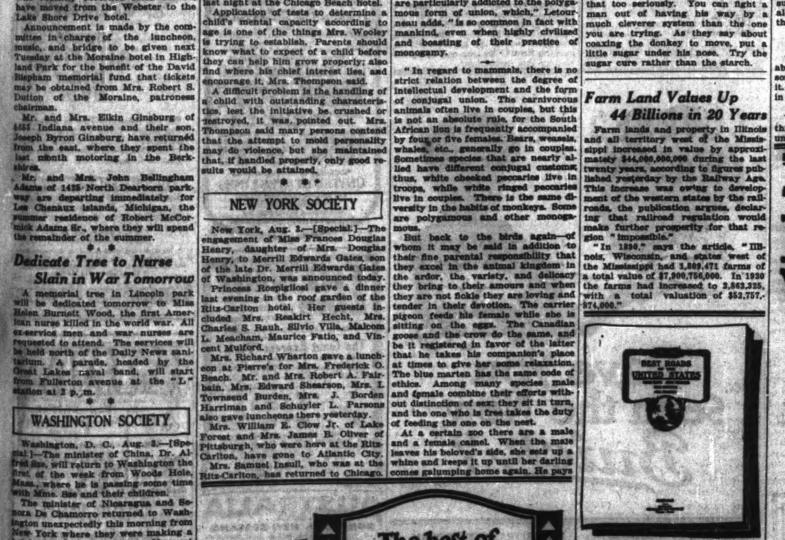

I find upon further investigation that nearly all the rapacious animals, even the stupid vultures, are monogamous. The conjugal union of the baidheaded eagle appears to last till the death of one of the partners.

If I were a cynic, I suppose I might be guilty of a horrible pun about that being the reason for the baldheads. But I don't, because we have the female Illinois parrot to whom widowhood and death are synonymous, a circumstance rare enough in the human of the human down to the house. He said no—he was going to a dance. Should come down to the house. He said no—he was going to a dance. Should

And that was only one of the many thrilling moments in a marvelous afternoon we had as the guests of Balaban & Katz at the Chicago theater. There was gice beyond describing when Penrod and his gang initiated the "sissy" of the neighborhood into their lodge, and when the organ grinder's monkey got inside the little colored boy's pants.

And tears, too, when Penrod's dog was killed, and poor Penrod was so broken hearted! My little girl guests used their handkerchiefs, and the boys wanted to, I'm sure. And best of all, when Penrod's tather found how the Bitts boy was making Penrod's life so unhappy and spent hundreds of dollars to set things right—well, I can't de scribe the joy!

day in respect to the memory of the late President Harding and such business as was transacted in the financial district was only of a kind that could not be deferred. The markets will be open for the asual balf day session to morrow, but will be closed again on the day of the funeral.

The first reaction of the banking and business community to the unexpected gews of the death of the chief executive was one of sorrow and regret, tempered by the knowledge of the caliber of his successor. With respect to the course of the financial markets as a result of the toss of the mation's chief executive, the point was fittingly made in banking and brokersage quarters that pecuniary resolvers to the search of the financial markets as a result of the toss of the mation's chief executive, the point was fittingly made in banking and brokersage quarters that pecuniary resolvers to the course of the financial markets that pecuniary and brokersage quarters that pecuniary and brokersage quarters that pecuniary resolvers there are considered to the course of the financial markets will be could be a successor. until a survey of the gituation without crootion had given a clearer indication as to the future conditions in prospect.

Little Action for Week.

Probably the most cloquent expression of opinion as to what this future might contain was found in the unvoiced plans of Wall street baskers, a number of whom will remain away from their offices for weeks.

Rumors to the effect that a conference of bankers had been called early in the day for the purpose of discussing the financial situation and lending support if such was needed under the crisis were officially belied. It was generally footed in the financial district, however, that "word" was passed to the prominent professionsis who have lately seen attacking the stock market, from the short side to lay low on their commitments for the time being and not endeavor to make captal out of the present allustion.

Attitude of Patient Walling.

With respect to the policies which it is expected the new president will adopt, the Wall street mind is in the position of patient walling. No great change in policy is anticpated by those who knew both the late Presedent and the new President walling. Chicago Mourns Passing of President Harding-Plans for Arrival of Funeral Party

A MAN MOURNED BY A NATION. This was the first officially posed portrait made of President Harding following his inauguration. It was taken at his desk in the executive offices in May, 1921. The President called it one of his "best photos."

SYMBOLIC OF THE CITY'S GRIEF. Throughout Chicago yesterday, from factories, loop skyscrapers, and homes, flags drooped at half mast.

THE THIRTIETH PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES. Calvin Coolidge Washington last night with his wife. They went direct to the Willard hotel, where the remain until Mrs. Harding leaves the White House.

WHERE HARDING WORSHIPED. An interior view of the Trinity Baptist church a Marion, O. The late President was a trustee of the church. Funeral services may be held in its auditorium.

COUNCIL LAMENTS PASSING OF "GREAT EXECUTIVE." The aldermen, in special session yesterday, adopt resolution expressing the sorrow of the second city of the land at President Harding's death.

[TRIBUNG Photo.]

WHEN CHICAGO PAID HOMAGE AT LINCOLN'S BIER. The body of the martyred President lay in state in the court house in April, 1865. It was the first time a President's funeral cortege had passed through the city. Harding's will be the second. The photo was taken looking southeast on La Salle street.

HIS SON IS DEAD. Dr. George T. Harding, the President's father, is awaiting the arrival of the funeral party in Marion, O.

WHERE COOLIDGE WAS BORN. A little Plymouth, Vt., was the birthplace of Calvin Coowas there, by telephone, that he kept informed on a condition.
